PROCESS FOR ESTABLISHING A MINING CLAIM IN ARIZONA

Step 1 - Prospect the vacant, unappropriated public lands managed by either BLM or the U.S. Forest Service. Research the BLM records for existing active mining claims by Township, Range, and Section.

Step 2 - Discover a valuable mineral deposit. A valid mining claim gives a claimant a possessory right to the locatable minerals in a piece of land. It is not a means of acquiring land for other use or occupancy.

Step 3 - Post a location notice on the ground. Forms can be obtained online from website: www.admmr.state.az.us/claimforms.pdf. A post must not be less than 1 ½ inches in cross-section and can be of any material placed at least 4 feet above the ground or by erecting substantial stone monuments at least 3 feet high.

→ Lode Claims on the centerline of the vein.

→ Placer Claims at one corner within the boundaries of the claim.

Step 4 - Within 90 days of the date of posting the notice on the ground, record the original location notice with the respective County Recorder and a copy of the notice with the BLM. The fee for filing with the BLM is $212 per claim. Each mining claim will receive an individual AMC Serial number. Also, within the 90-day period, the 4 corners of the claim must be "monumented." In addition, Lode mining claims must have end center monuments; see Step 3 above for types of post to be used. Each monument must be marked so as to identify the corner or end center of the claim to which it pertains, such as "NE Corner Patricia #1."

Step 5 - Once a claim is established, it cannot be mined until a notice of plan is submitted and approved by the respective BLM Field Office or the Forest Service. A bond must be posted in most situations.

Step 6 - A maintenance fee of $155 per claim must be paid to the BLM each year on or before September 1st. Claimants with 10 claims or less in the United States have the option of filing a waiver by that date and do annual assessment work instead. Such labor or improvements in the amount of $100 must be completed by September 1st and an affidavit must be filed with BLM and the County by December 30th. A payment of $15 per claim is charged by the BLM.
