Description.

This claim is situated in Johnson Canyon about 1/2 mile east of Blue River. . Ddg: 1 . stuaclo to torra

About one acre is planted to orchard which is now producing excellent fruit.

The remainder of the land embraced in the claim is rugged and unfit for agriculture.

There is no evidence of precious minerals on the claim. Along Johnson creek, there is a good stand of sycamore and willow, while the hillsides are covered with a scattering juniper, pinon and scrub oak of no commercial value.

Water for stock and domestic purposes is obtained from springs along the canyon.

The soil in the creek bottom is a black silt, while that on the hillsides is a stiff brown clay.
