General Description.

This claim is situated on the South western slope of Marble Peak in the Santa Catalina Mountains, about $\frac{1}{4}$ of a mile northerly of Rattlesnake Creek

I estimate the value of the labor and improvements made upon the claim to be $100.00 and consists of a cut and Discovery Shaft, as represented in the Field-Notes of the Survey of the Saint Nicholas Mining claim foregoing field-notes,

The claim is located as a western extension of the Apache Mine, lot no. 38. A. upon which several thousand dollars have been expended, and is claimed by the same company.

Note

The local attractions of the needle made it impossible to close the survey by the ordinary method, I therefore measured the included angles between lines, and reduced same to bearings.
